Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to confirm that Indri has been providing her valuable services as a freelance Front-End Web Developer to our company. She has been an essential contributor to our web design and development projects since May 2023.

In her role as a freelance Front-End Web Developer, Indri's compensation is project-based, with payment varying according to the complexity and requirements of each project. Despite her ongoing project engagement with us, Indri is not bound by any requirement to formally request a leave of absence or adhere to a fixed office attendance schedule.

This letter serves as an official statement of Indri's freelance collaboration with our company in the field of web design and development. Should you need any further details or references, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Albert Winardi
